

1. What are the three primary variables describing a control candidate?
2. What was the biggest difference when the CPU code was “translated” into GPU code?
3. What was the main difference between the two GPU implementation alternatives?